Course Description

Theory of the determination of aggregate levels of national income, employment and prices; monetary and fiscal policy analysis, effects of government debt and deficits.

Additional Details

Analysis of the determinants of national income, employment, and prices in modern macroeconomic theory; models of long-run growth, short-run fluctuations, and policy responses; examines aggregate demand and supply frameworks and the role of expectations in shaping economic outcomes; explores how monetary and fiscal policy influence inflation, output, and stability across business cycles; emphasizes the use of theoretical and empirical tools to interpret macroeconomic data and evaluate policy.

Course Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, the learner will be able to:

- Analyze the key determinants of national income, employment, and price levels using modern macroeconomic theory.

- Use aggregate demand and aggregate supply frameworks to evaluate macroeconomic equilibrium and adjustments over time.
- Evaluate the effects of monetary and fiscal policy on economic stability, inflation, and output across different phases of the business cycle.

Course Prerequisites

Students should be familiar with the course material of ECON 203 and have some calculus background.

Textbook and/or Resource Materials

The main references are the slides posted on the course website. A recommended text for background reading is N. Gregory Mankiw, Macroeconomics, 11th Edition (or newer), Worth Publishers.

Grading Policy

Assessment	Weight	Date / Time	Grading Scale
Attendance	5%	At the end of each class	90– 100	A
Homeworks	25%	Due to class time	80 – 89	B
Midterm 1	20%	Thursday, February 12 (class time)	70 – 79	C
Midterm 2	20%	Tuesday, March 24 (class time)	60 – 69	D
Final Exam	30%	Tuesday, May 1 1:00 p.m. – 3:00 p.m.	< 60	F
Total	100%

The overall score will be the summation of the above assessments rounded to the closest integer.

Explanation of Assessment:

- There will be 6 homework assignments. One week will be given to complete each homework assignment. The lowest homework grade will be dropped. No late problem sets will be accepted. There are no make-up opportunities for the assignments. Instead, if a student misses an assignment deadline due to an officially recognized university excuse, the grade on his/her missed assignment will be the average grade on all the other assignments that the student completes during the semester. The student is responsible for informing the instructor that he/she will miss an assignment, prior to the deadline (no later than one day after the due date of the assignment).
- Exams will include a combination of multiple-choice, true/false, and short open-ended questions, and will be given during the lecture times. Midterm 1 will cover materials that are delivered before Midterm 1. Midterm 2 will cover materials delivered after Midterm 1 and before Midterm 2. The final exam is comprehensive with a specific focus on the material covered after Midterm 2. The best materials to review for the exams are homework assignments and lecture slides. You will need to bring a pencil, a calculator (of any kind but no cellphone or laptop), and your university ID for each exam (you do not need to prepare a scantron).

- Attendance will be taken via Google Form (link) at the end of each lecture, using a code provided by the instructor. Any responses submitted 30+ minutes after the end of class will not be counted.
- Canvas (<https://canvas.tamu.edu/>) will be used to distribute announcements, lecture notes, and any other class related material. Students' grades will be posted regularly on Canvas.
- All assignments, exams and attendance will be governed by university rules on university-excused absences (for more information see <http://student-rules.tamu.edu>).

Late Work Policy

Late work means a student submitting a deliverable after the established deadline. Work submitted by a student as makeup work for an excused absence is not considered late work and is exempted from the late work policy. (See Student Rule 7.)

Late homework assignments are not accepted, unless proof of a university-authorized excuse is presented. Make-ups on the midterms and the final exam are available only to those with university approved valid justification. If you miss a midterm or the final, you are responsible for providing the evidence of unusual circumstances.

Course Schedule

We will follow the textbook closely. The following outline is provided as a guide to indicate the topics and material to be covered, but some changes may occur in the extent of material covered, and/or in the pace.

University Policies

Attendance Policy

The university views class attendance and participation as an individual student responsibility. Students are expected to attend class and to complete all assignments.

Please refer to Student Rule 7 in its entirety for information about excused absences, including definitions, and related documentation and timelines.

Makeup Work Policy

Students will be excused from attending class on the day of a graded activity or when attendance contributes to a student's grade, for the reasons stated in Student Rule 7, or other reason deemed appropriate by the instructor.

Please refer to Student Rule 7 in its entirety for information about makeup work, including definitions, and related documentation and timelines.

Absences related to Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 may necessitate a period of more than 30 days for make-up work, and the timeframe for make-up work should be agreed upon by the student and instructor" (Student Rule 7, Section 7.4.1).

"The instructor is under no obligation to provide an opportunity for the student to make up work missed because of an unexcused absence" (Student Rule 7, Section 7.4.2).

Students who request an excused absence are expected to uphold the Aggie Honor Code and Student Conduct Code. (See Student Rule 24.)

Academic Integrity Statement and Policy

"An Aggie does not lie, cheat or steal, or tolerate those who do."

"Texas A&M University students are responsible for authenticating all work submitted to an instructor. If asked, students must be able to produce proof that the item submitted is indeed the work of that student. Students must keep appropriate records at all times. The inability to authenticate one's work, should the instructor request it, may be sufficient grounds to initiate an academic misconduct case” (Section 20.1.2.3, Student Rule 20).

Notice of Nondiscrimination

Texas A&M University is committed to providing safe and non-discriminatory learning, living, and work environments for all members of the University community. The University provides equal opportunity to all employees, students, applicants for employment or admission, and the public regardless of race, color, sex (including pregnancy and related conditions), religion, national origin, age, disability, genetic information, or veteran status. Texas A&M University will promptly, thoroughly, and fairly investigate and resolve all complaints of discrimination, harassment (including sexual harassment), complicity and related retaliation based on a protected class in accordance with System Regulation 08.01.01, University Rule 08.01.01.M1, Standard Administrative Procedure (SAP) 08.01.01.M1.01, and applicable federal and state laws. In accordance with Title IX and its implementing regulations, Texas A&M does not discriminate on the basis of sex in any educational program or activity, including admissions and employment. The following person has been designated to handle inquiries and complaints regarding the non-discrimination policies: Jennifer M. Smith, TAMU Associate VP & Title IX Coordinator at YMCA Ste 108, College Station, TX 77843, 979-458-8407, or email civilrights@tamu.edu. Civil Rights, Free Speech, and Title IX Policies

Texas A&M University is committed to fostering a learning environment that is safe and productive for all. University policies and federal and state laws prohibit discrimination and harassment based on an individual’s race, color, sex, (including pregnancy and related conditions), religion, national origin, age, disability, genetic information, veteran status, or any other legally protected characteristic. This includes forms of sex-based violence, such as sexual assault, sexual harassment, sexual exploitation, dating/domestic violence, and stalking.

Students can report discrimination/harassment, access supportive resources, or learn more about their options for resolving complaints on the University’s Civil Rights & Title IX webpage.

Students should be aware that all university employees (except medical or mental health providers) are mandatory reporters, which means that if they observe, experience or become aware of an incident that they reasonably believe to be discrimination/harassment alleged to have been committed by or against a person who was a student or employee at the time of the incident, the employee must report the incident to the university.

Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) Policy

Texas A&M University is committed to providing equitable access to learning opportunities for all students.
